JUST THINKING

Number 41

Source: <http://www.ilovebacon.com/>.

JT: Truthful rumor has it that Michelle uses ANUS daily.

We read at <http://www.gatestoneinstitute.org/3446/london-mega-mosque-qaeda#.UKmhQUw7ujc.twitter> that "A radical Islamic group has applied for a permit to build one of the largest mosques in the world, in London." To be used as a recruiting ground for Al-Qaeda.

JT: There's nothing wrong with this initiative. They're just peaceful!!!

Don Fredrick of The Obama Timeline reports and documents that Obama would like to be a dictator. "During his speech in Burma, Obama says, 'Now, on other (the) hand, ...I cannot just impose my will on Congress—the Congress of the United States—even though sometimes I wish I could.'"

JT: Well, he did a push-over job of it the last four years. However, I really think that it would be better for America if Obama digged taters the rest of his life.

Don Fredrick of The Obama Timeline also reports, "One area where the federal government could save tax dollars is by eliminating 'official portraits' commissioned for high-level officials. The Washington Times reports, 'The Environmental Protection Agency spent nearly $40,000 on a portrait of Administrator Lisa P. Jackson, while a painting of Air Force Secretary Michael B. Donley will cost $41,200, according to federal purchasing records. The price tag for a 3-by-4-foot oil portrait of Agriculture Department Secretary Thomas J. Vilsack: $22,500. All told, the government has paid out at least $180,000 for official portraits since last year...'"

JT: Methinks that these are way too expensive for pictures that should be hung up in US Post Offices and other public places.

<http://pjmedia.com/tatler/2012/11/20/allen-west-concedes/>

Rep. Allen West (R-Fla.) has conceded his contested re-election race to Democrat Patrick Murphy.

"While a contest of the election results might have changed the vote totals, we do not have evidence that the outcome would change," West said in a press release. "Given the extremely high evidentiary hurdles involved in a successful challenge, I will not ask my generous supporters to help fund a drawn-out, expensive legal effort with little chance of success. Therefore, we will not contest the certification or challenge the seating of Congressman-Elect Murphy."

His announcement, just hours before Florida releases certified election results, puts a halt to the fundraising that both sides were doing to prep for a long court battle over the results.

"While there are certainly still inaccuracies in the results, and the actions of the St. Lucie County and Palm Beach County Supervisors of Elections rightly raise questions in my mind and for many voters, after much analysis and this past weekend's recount in St. Lucie County, our legal team does not believe there are enough over-counted, undercounted or fraudulent votes to change the outcome of the election," West said.

Final results Sunday from ballots counted in Palm Beach, Martin and St. Lucie counties gave Murphy a 1,904-vote lead over West.

West got St. Lucie County to retabulate its early ballots, but that still didn't knock Murphy to the 0.5 percent margin needed to trigger a recount.

The congressman said he was praying for Murphy, and added, "Only God knows what is in store for each of us. I have dedicated my life to serving this nation, and the results of this election will not change my purpose. Just as I did in the deserts of Iraq and Afghanistan, just as I did on Capitol Hill, I will continue to fight for our Republic.”

JT: The fact that Murphy "won" and West "lost" is conclusive evidence that this saying is true: Nobody win against idiots, particularly Democratic Party idiots.

“According to Article II of 12th Amendment of the U.S. Constitution, if 1/3rd of the states do not cast their votes in the Electoral College, then the matter falls onto the House of Representatives to choose the President. In other words, if we pressure Congressmen, State Party Officials, and groups such as Tea Party Patriots, Heritage Foundation, etc., to call on RED States to NOT have their Electors cast their vote, then the House of Reps CAN choose the next President!!!! ...WE do not elect the President. The Electoral College elects the President. But if enough of them do not cast their vote, then the responsibility falls onto the House of Representatives to choose the next President. If just 17 RED States agreed to NOT cast their votes in the electoral college, then it goes to the House. If pressured—they just might do it. We do NOT have to convince ANY democrats, at all. All we have to do is convince 1/3 of the States to NOT cast their electoral college votes.”

JT: The music has no official lyrics. There are some popular verses:

Day is done, gone the sun,
From the lake, from the hill,
From the sky.
All is well, safely rest,
God is nigh.

Thanks and praise, For our days,
'Neath the sun, 'Neath the stars,
'Neath the sky,
As we go, This we know,
God is nigh.

Fades the light; And afar
Goeth day, And the stars
Shineth bright,
Fare thee well; Day has gone,
Night is on.

Go to sleep, peaceful sleep,
May the soldier or sailor,
God keep.
On the land or the deep,
Safe in sleep.

Love, good night, Must thou go,
When the day, And the night
Need thee so?
All is well. Speedeth all
To their rest

The text that could accompany this image is reported by Breitbart <http://www.breitbart.com/Big-Government/2012/11/22/For-Fourth-Straight-Year-Obama-Thanksgiving-Message-God>.

Yet again, President Obama's Thanksgiving message eschewed any direct reference to thanking God, making this the fourth straight year in which the President of the United States has ignored the central message of the holiday in favor of political grandstanding.

This year, Obama's central message was that now that he's been re-elected, Americans should agree with all of his policies. His unity routine sounds strangely empty after a campaign in which he focused on dividing Americans:

"But most of all, it's a time to give thanks for each other, and for the incredible bounty we enjoy. That's especially important this year. As a nation, we've just emerged from a campaign season that was passionate, noisy, and vital to our democracy. But it also required us to make choices—and sometimes those choices led us to focus on what sets us apart instead of what ties us together; on what candidate we support instead of what country we belong to... We're also grateful that this country has always been home to Americans who see these blessings not simply as gifts to enjoy, but as opportunities to give back. Americans who believe we have a responsibility to look out for those less fortunate—to pull each other up and move forward together. As Americans, we are a bold, generous, big-hearted people. When our brothers and sisters are in need, we roll up our sleeves and get to work—not for the recognition or the reward, but because it's the right thing to do. Because there but for the grace of God go I. And because here in America, we rise or fall together, as one nation and one people." Don Fredrick of The Obama Timeline translates this into logical, Obama English – In other words, "I won, so shut up and pay more taxes so I can spend more money."

JT: Methinks that the image shows turkey greeting turkey. According to the Urban Dictionary the following selections apply:

- (n) a loser; an uncoordinated, inept, clumsy fool, a tool; a person who is not in with current culture and slang or is just generally uncool.
- A bad person. "A turkey is a bad person" - Homer Simpson
- A person who looks very self-fulfilled. A turkey carries a stature and facial expression that indicates they must masturbate several times a day. ...
Turkeys come in all shapes and sizes, but usually they have a grin on their face, and hands in their pockets. Turkeys are very confident even if they are slurring. This slang word turkey can be dated back to the year 2001.

<http://www.france24.com/en/20121122-electronic-tracking-new-constraint-saudi-women> The article reports that Saudi Arabia will require that Saudi Arabian women wear electronic tracking devices.

JT: Methinks this is quite in order. The Islamic man surely has a right to know where is women are. His desire to beat and mishandle any of his four wives is a right given by Allah-Hubal and Mohammed. If the Islamic man cannot locate any of his wives, then he is disobeying sharia law. If he wants to, let's say discipline her, he must know where she is. Allah-Hubal probably invented these tracking devices specifically for this purpose. Read <http://answering-islam.org/Silas/wife-beating.htm> and you'll understand how peaceful Islam is towards its women.

Jeb Bush is thinking about being a Republican candidate for the 2016 presidential election. Here are some suggestions how he can win without doing very much.

- Make sure that your avowed friends are communists and Muslim, but at the same time throw them under the bus.
- Promise everybody free government handouts.
- Lower the voting age to 14 and promise high schoolers and young adults free condoms, contraception accessories, and abortions.
- Play golf at least once a week.
- Publish:
 - A fake autobiography.
 - A counterfeit short-form birth document
 - A fake long-form "birth certificate."
- Give your addresses as fake addresses where you never lived.
- Manipulate two old newspaper clippings reporting his birth.

Never release the following items:

- Academic Thesis
- air travel records since he was born
- Amended Certification of Live Birth
- Any videos
- Baptism certificate
- Certificate of Live Birth (long form)
- Certification of Live Birth (short form)
- College records
- Financial Aid Records
- Governor Visitors list
- Kindergarten records
- marriage license
- Medical records
- original, vault copy birth certificate
- passport records
- Scholarly Articles
- School applications
- School grade records
- Selective Service Registration
- Social Security Numbers
