The 13-year-old girl's attackers tried to bury her in a roadside grave, but she managed to climb out. The rape was reported to police in the Toba Tek Singh by Siddique Mughal, the child's father. "Those crafty Jews. Bwahahahahaha.
Zionist Squirrels and Other "Squirrelly" Accusations Posted by The Counter Jihad Report, on October 29, 2013

By Y.K. Cherson and Rachel Molschky:

Muslims are alarmed! There is a massive conversion of animals to "Zionism", but not a single animal has agreed to convert to Islam.

A hawk in Lebanon was recently accused of "collaborating with Zionists." Three weeks before that, an "Israeli spy duck" in Egypt, and this just a couple of weeks after astork "spy" was found, also in Egypt. As if that's not enough, earlier in the summer, a kestrel "Zionist spy" in Turkey was captured.

Palestinian Authority: "Zionist wild boars attack and rape innocent Palestinian girls."

Syria: "Zionist wild pigs attack the Palestinian farmers and do not let them harvest olives."

The Palestinian Authority's Minister of Agriculture Mahmud Hussein: "Zionist rats penetrate into the Palestinian houses and make the owners flee in horror."

Egypt: "Zionist sharks attack the tourists and ruin the tourism in Egypt."

Hamas: "Zionists have trained the wild dogs to chase and kill the freedom fighters."

Hezbollah: "Zionists used the alligators during the Israeli raid on Tyr in July of 2006."

Iran: "The 'Zionist eagles' were spotted flying over the village of Kamo, close to Iran's uranium enrichment facility at Natanz. Quoting 'informed sources', publications such as Asr Iran wrote that these eagles were seen to be carrying 'listening devices like mobile phones, which were attached to the chest'. They were also reported to have had aerials attached to the heads, as well as 'devices to receive and send intelligence.'"

Another Zionist. (Source: <http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-1344019/Vulture-tagged-Israeli-scientists-flies-Saudi-Arabia-arrested-spy.html>)

The Saudis decided not to let some Persians be the leaders in hunting these “Zionist agents”, and as the eagles were already busy, they arrested a vulture and accused the poor bird of spying for the Mossad. Saudi Arabian security forces have captured a vulture that was carrying a global positioning satellite \(GPS\) transmitter and a ring etched with the words “Tel Aviv University.” Now the vulture is under arrest.

In a similar story, a “Zionist” vulture wandered into the Darfur region of the western part of the Sudan. The “spy” had a tag on its leg with the words “Israel Nature Service” and “Hebrew University, Jerusalem.” Of course the bird had no photography equipment on it, and the migration patterns of birds are often observed by scientists. Interestingly, the opposition in Sudan mocked the alleged “spy bird” on its website, according to Ynet. The Justice and Equality Movement wrote, “How is it possible that the regime was able to detect one vulture, but was unable to detect the jets that bombed the arms facility?”

Clearly, the highly intelligent “Zionists” would put signs on these “spies” which say “Israel” in order to announce to the world to whom these “spies” belong. Any spy would walk around with a big sign which states the name of his country, maybe even with some flashing lights just to make sure. Right?

And let’s not forget the 14 Zionist squirrels arrested in Iran. Iranian police commander Esmail Ahmadi-Moqadam announced that: “The squirrels were carrying spy gear of foreign agencies, and were stopped before they could act, thanks to the alertness of our intelligence services.”

Apparently, sharks are also “trainable spies.” Not too long ago, Egyptians killed two sharks that were suspected in a series of attacks on bathers. One of the sharks was 2.1 meters long and weighed 150 kg. The other was 30 cm longer and weighed 250 kg.

Afterwards, days passed, and Muslims were suspiciously silent. It almost seemed that the impossible happened, and Muslims began to recover from the collective schizophrenia 99% of them suffer and return back to normality, but...

According to body language expert Dr. Lillian Glass, “Basically, we’re seeing an Obama that we’ve never seen before. Body language-wise, he looks tentative. He looks down. We see an embarrassed Obama. He’s not as confident as he once was. It’s really taking its toll on him. He swallows more when he speaks. He has much more tension in his lower jaw. His posture is more slouched over... This whole [ObamaCare rollout] situation has affected him. The tension around the jaw is very prevalent, more than it was before. That signifies a lot of anger and a lot of tension and anxiety. You see the puffiness around his eyes. He’s losing a lot of sleep over this for sure. What is so unusual body language-wise is that we’ve never seen him in this state. We really see how this has had an effect on him. ...Even though Obama talked about body language and said in one speech, ‘don’t look at body language,’ the body doesn’t lie. People pick things up. When we decipher it and we analyze it, it’s quite relevant because we’re seeing it in action right away. It’s really forced a changed in his demeanor. You can physically see a difference in him and this is probably the most tense we’ve ever seen him.”

John Gibson of Fox News writes, “There are two kinds of people when it comes to lying, purposely not telling the truth. One is the kind of person who is embarrassed or shamed by being caught in a lie. The other is the kind of person who just doesn’t care, who feels no shame, whose face doesn’t flush red, a person who just goes on, and probably lies again. Evidently [Obama] is the second kind of person.”

From the October report of The Obama Timeline:

TheHill.com points out that Obama was not the only Democrat promising Americans they could keep their insurance if they liked it. Senator Patty Murray (D-WA) said on June 10, 2009, "If you like what you have today, that will be what you have when this legislation is passed." On July 28, 2009 Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "It not only means making sure you can keep your family's doctor or keep your healthcare plan if you like it, but also that you can afford to do so." On July 30, 2009 Senator Dick Durbin (D-IL) said, "Many people say: 'I like my health insurance right now. I don't want to change. I don't want to go into Medicare or Medicaid. I like what I have. Would you please leave people alone?' The answer is yes. In fact, we guarantee it. We are going to put in any legislation considered by the House and Senate the protection that you, as an individual, keep the health insurance you have, if that is what you want." In September 2010 Senator Tom Harkin (D-IA) said, "One of the things we put in the healthcare bill when we designed it was the protection for consumers to keep the plan they have if they like it; thus the term 'grandfathered plans.' If you have a plan you like—existing policies—you can keep them." (<http://thehill.com/homenews/house/188782-top-dems-made-same-promises>)

WND.com reports, "Retired Army Maj. Gen. Patrick Brady, recipient of the U.S. military's highest decoration, the Medal of Honor, as well as other top retired officers, say ...Obama's agenda is decimating the morale of the U.S. ranks to the point members no longer feel prepared to fight or have the desire to win. 'There is no doubt he (Obama) is intent on emasculating the military and will fire anyone who disagrees with him' over such issues as 'homosexuals, women in foxholes, the Obama sequester,' Brady told WND. 'They are purging everyone, and if you want to keep your job, just keep your mouth shut,' one source told WND. Not only are military service members being demoralized and the ranks' overall readiness being reduced by the Obama administration's purge of key leaders, colonels—those lined up in rank to replace outgoing generals—are quietly taking their careers in other directions. Retired Army Lt. Gen. William G. 'Jerry' Boykin, who was with Delta Force and later Deputy Under Secretary of Defense for Intelligence under President George W. Bush, says it is worrying that four-star generals are being retired at the rate that has occurred under Obama. 'Over the past three years, it is unprecedented for the number of four-star generals to be relieved of duty, and not necessarily relieved for cause,' Boykin said. 'I believe there is a purging of the military,' he said. 'The problem is worse than we have ever seen.” (<http://www.wnd.com/2013/10/top-generals-obama-is-purging-the-military/>)

I have another statement by Edmund Burke that applies 100 percent:

"The people never give up their liberties but under some delusion."

Edmund Burke, Speech at Country Meeting of Buckinghamshire, 1784.

The Obama Timeline reports: "At Townhall.com Caroline Glick notes the incredibly unreasonable negotiating demands of the Palestinian Liberation Organization (PLO) in a position paper, leaked to the media, that PLO negotiator Seab Erekat gave to Israeli Justice Minister Tzipi Livni.

"In a nutshell, the paper requires Israel to destroy itself demographically, democratically, militarily, legally and politically and that it relinquish its water supply. Six months after it does all these things, the Palestinians will agree to sign a peace treaty with it. The Palestinian document claims not only all of Judea and Samaria, (except for 1.9 percent of the territory that Israel can keep in exchange for money and more land within sovereign Israel), and eastern, northern and southern Jerusalem. It demands the northern Negev, the Hula Valley, Latrun and the Elah Valley. And it demands them all free of all Jewish presence. They demand that Israel relinquish its rights under international law to Judea, Samaria and Jerusalem by agreeing that they are 'occupied.' They demand full control over the airspace over Judea, Samaria, Gaza and Jerusalem, and over the waters off the Gaza coast. They demand an end of air force over flights of those areas. They demand control over all the underground aquifers, and over the electromagnetic spectrum. Moreover, the Palestinians are demanding that Israel allow 5 million foreign-born Arabs the right to freely immigrate to its remaining territory. They refuse to accept Israel's right to exist and claim they have sovereign rights over all of Israel."

From <http://dailycaller.com/2013/11/05/obama-denies-you-can-keep-it-videotaped-promises/#ixzz2jn8BACEz>

"President Barack Obama told his enthusiastic supporters Monday night that he never promised what video recordings show him promising at least 29 times.

The videos show Obama promising 300 million Americans that “if you like your health-care plan, you will be able to keep your health-care plan, period.”

But that’s not what he really said, Obama announced Monday in a speech to about 200 Organizing for Action supporters, gathered at the St. Regis hotel in D.C.

“What we said was you could keep it if it hasn’t changed since the law was passed,” he told Obamacare’s political beneficiaries and contractors.

That claim is not supported by his videotaped statements, which don’t include any mention of his new “if it hasn’t changed” exception.

But the newly-revealed exception is justified by a higher-priority promise in Obamacare, Obama declared.

“If we had allowed these old plans [to continue]... then we would have broken an even more important promise — making sure that Americans gain access to health care that doesn’t leave them one illness away from financial ruin,” he announced.

“So the bottom line is, is that we are making the insurance market better for everybody,” he declared, prompting loud applause by supporters eager to ignore his three years of fraudulent statements.

Obama’s higher promise is now causing the cancelation of insurance policies chosen by at least 3.5 million Americans.

The cancellations are spreading from the individual market to the small-group market. For example, Kentucky's Department of Insurance has reported that 150,000 people in small-group plans — typically created for employees of small companies — are losing their insurance.

Obama urged his supporters to counter the political effect of the many cancellations by highlighting good-news stories, and by reassuring people who have lost their insurance that they can buy new Obamacare-compliant policies.

“I realize that can be scary for people if they just get some [cancellation] notice like that... we've got to make sure that we're getting them the right information,” he said

But he also tried to downplay the Obamacare-caused cancellations, which are creating a wave of bad publicity that is hammering his poll ratings and his political clout.

“People are acting like this is some new phenomenon... every year there was churn in this individual market” before the law was passed, he complained.

But Americans' complaints are subordinate to his political goals, he suggested.

“We decided we need to build something better, no matter how hard it is,” he declared.

Under that better progressive-managed system, some people's health-care costs are going to jump, but it will be good for them, Obama said.

“Some Americans with higher incomes will pay more on the front end for better insurance with better benefits and better protections that could eventually help them a lot, even if right now they'd rather be paying less,” he announced.

Obama's deceptive statements were deliberate and were intended to bolster Obama's ability to get Obamacare passed in 2010 and him reelected in 2012, according to aides cited in a Wall Street Journal article Saturday.

“Simplification and ease of explanation were a premium, and that was true throughout the process,” Jon Favreau, who was Obama's senior speech writer, told the journal's writers.

Despite Obama's new claims to his supporters, his “if it hasn't changed” exception is not recorded in even one of his many videotaped “you can keep it” promises to Americans.

“We will keep this promise to the American people... if you like your health-care plan, you will be able to keep your health-care plan, period,” Obama said June 23, 2009.

“If you like your insurance plan, you will keep it. No one will be able to take that away from you. It hasn't happened yet. It won't happen in the future,” Obama told voters on April Fool's Day, 2010, after the law was signed.

He repeated the unqualified promise in the run-up to the 2012 election. “If you've got health insurance.... you keep your own insurance, you keep your own doctor,” he declared in one of the three presidential debates.

However, Obama didn't spend all of his Nov. 4 speech denying the videotapes.

He did confess that he and his aides may have made some mistakes, such as failing to manage the development of the Obamacare website.

“We got [Obamacare] done. Now, let’s face it, a lot of us didn’t realize that passing the law was the easy part.”

JT: American Patriots have been saying this since Obama started breathing corrupt political oxygen!

***

JT: Spontaneous thought: Judge Obama by his words and tongue and truths, ... the latter or which are non-existent.
