JUST THINKING

Number 86

Nelson Mandela was a communist. Nelson Mandela did not end apartheid in South Africa. The truth is:

“A combination of fierce pressure and much violence from the African National Congress economic and military sanctions, and the fear of invasion by Cuban and East Bloc troops from Angola finally did in the white regime. ...During the 1980’s, Mandela was both number two at the African National Congress and a senior leader of its ally, the Communist Party. Mandela also headed up the Umkhonto we Sizwe or Spear of the Nation, the violent fighting arm of the ANC. He was a hereditary prince of the Xhosa people. In those days, the US and Britain branded Mandela and the ANC as ‘terrorists.’ White civilians were killed, restaurants and bars bombed. I joined a special South African unit up on the Limpopo River trying to protect isolated, elderly white farmers from being murdered by gangs of ANC gunmen. In fact, most of the ANC’s white victims were civilians. Hundreds of blacks accused of collaboration with the government were ‘necklaced’ (burned to death by having gasoline-filled tires put around their necks). It was your typically brutal, dirty revolutionary war, the kind I’d covered in Africa, Asia and Latin America. Amazingly, Mandela remained on the notorious US terrorist black list until 2008. ...Remember others who brought peace to South Africa: the last white leader, F.W. de Klerk, a man of wisdom who read the writing on the wall. Zulu Chief Mangusutu Buthelezi who, with Mandela, prevented a Zulu-Xhosa conflict, and Foreign Minister Pik Botha. Their combined efforts resulted in a smooth transition to majority rule and allowed the whites to retreat with honor. Most revolutions rarely produce happy outcomes. The ANC became all-powerful, a one-party government riddled with corruption and malfeasance. Crime has run rampant in post apartheid South Africa. ...Compared to today’s world leaders, Mandela does look like a saint. He was wise enough to serve only one term before failing health and grubby politics tarnished his renown. His memory will shine on.”

"Section 2742 of Public Law 104-191 (the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act, or HIPAA), states,

(a) In General.--Except as provided in this section, a health insurance issuer that provides individual health insurance coverage to an individual shall renew or continue in force such coverage at the option of the individual.

(b) General Exceptions.--A health insurance issuer may nonrenew or discontinue health insurance coverage of an individual in the individual market based only on one or more of the following:

(1) Nonpayment of premiums.--The individual has failed to pay premiums or contributions in accordance with the terms of the health insurance coverage or the issuer has not received timely premium payments.

(2) Fraud.--The individual has performed an act or practice that constitutes fraud or made an intentional misrepresentation of material fact under the terms of the coverage.

(3) Termination of plan.--The issuer is ceasing to offer coverage in the individual market in accordance with subsection (c) and applicable State law.

(4) Movement outside service area.--In the case of a health insurance issuer that offers health insurance coverage in the market through a network plan, the individual no longer resides, lives, or works in the service area (or in an area for which the issuer is authorized to do business) but only if such coverage is terminated under this paragraph uniformly without regard to any health status-related factor of covered individuals.

(5) Association membership ceases.--In the case of health insurance coverage that is made available in the individual market only through one or more bona fide associations, the membership of the individual in the association (on the basis of which the coverage is provided) ceases but only if such coverage is terminated under this paragraph uniformly without regard to any health status-related factor of covered individuals. "Meanwhile, some European-descent Afrikaners fear for their lives, as South African blacks do their best to displace white farmers and property owners. Dr. Gregory Stanton, head of Genocide Watch, tells WND.com, "There is... strong circumstantial evidence of government support for the campaign of forced displacement and atrocities against white farmers and their families. There is direct evidence of government incitement to genocide." WND.com's Alex Newman reports, "Sources from South Africa told WND—and reporters on the scene confirmed—residents in many areas began taking up the traditional, so-called 'struggle songs,' which sing not just of liberating the black population, but pledge the mass-murder of whites. There are many songs and variations on them, but among the most common themes are 'kill the Boer, kill the farmer,' 'bring me my machine gun' and similar genocidal topics. While officially considered 'hate speech'—even incitement to genocide—the songs advocating the mass-murder of European-descent South Africans were popular with Mandela and remain a regular feature of politics. Even the current president, Jacob Zuma, regularly sings the songs at political rallies. Often dismissed as just old 'struggle' songs, even by many Afrikaners, experts have long warned that such rhetoric can easily contribute to atrocities. In South Africa, some Afrikaners are on edge, too. 'It sounds more like a war cry than anything else,' said South African analyst Jacques Maré, who describes himself as a minority-rights activist. 'The atmosphere is charged.' 'The mood of the crowd in the township seems to be excited, unlike the somber emotions one would expect,' Maré told WND as he monitored developments intently from Pretoria. 'It is going to be a difficult and uneasy time for the ethnic-European minority of South Africa.'" (<http://www.wnd.com/2013/12/can-whites-escape-post-mandela-bloodbath/> via The Obama Timeline.

At <http://townhall.com/columnists/johnhawkins/2013/11/23/15-reasons-why-barack-obama-is-the-greatest-president-in-american-history-n1751891> John Hawkins lists 15 Reasons Why Barack Obama Is the Greatest President in American History!

- 1) He's sent weapons to Libya (and Syria) to help repair America's strained relationship with Al-Qaeda.
- 2) Parents all across the country can now point to Barack Obama's performance when they're explaining to their children why they shouldn't use drugs.
- 3) He won the Nobel Peace Prize. Hello!
- 4) Thanks to healthcare.gov, "New Coke" no longer has to bear the shame of being the worst product roll-out in American history.
- 5) Because of Obama, 91 million people without jobs now have plenty of time to spend with their family.
- 6) He extended childhood all the way up to 26 by allowing "children" to stay on their parents insurance until then.
- 7) He's kept goofy Uncle Joe Biden from becoming President for five long years.
- 8) No President in American history has done more to further gun sales than Barack Obama.

9) Without Barack Obama, none of us would have ever heard the name Sandra Fluke and what a tragedy that would be!

10) He has already broken Bill Clinton's record for the most lies told in one presidency with three years left to go in office.

11) When the SEALS asked for permission to kill Bin Laden, he didn't insist that they merely give Osama a good talking to instead.

12) He has worked tirelessly to know the American people better through invasive TSA searches, reading their emails, and listening in on their phone calls.

13) He's living proof that even a pothead who thinks there are 57 states can still live the American dream.

14) Because of Obama's economic policies, more Americans than ever have gotten to experience the sweet, sweet joy of unemployment!

15) Obama's policies are so bad that even real racists have stopped hating him for being black and hate him for his failed policies.

Here are some more from JT:

16. He's married to the woman who thinks she is the most beautiful woman in the world and her beauty comes from eating XXXLLL Cheeseburgers and thus Obama is supporting sales for McDonald's and Burger King.

17. He never makes a mistake and is never at fault!

18. Every time he plays golf he hits a hole in one when nobody is looking.

19 He's the only American president to suffer from diarrhea of the brain.

20. He's the only American (?) to be born in two different countries at the same time.

21. He's allowing Iran to develop and possess the atomic bomb as their contribution to peace in the Middle East.

22. He's the only politician who reads his errs, ahhs, erms, uhhs,etc, from a teleprompter.

JT: You get it. Make up some of your own and exchange the reasons with your friends. Collect enough reasons and write a book. If Barack Hussein Obama can win the Nobel Peace Prize for doing nothing, perhaps you can win the Nobel Prize for Literature for writing such a book.

We read at American Thinker that "The depth of thought (of leftists and progressives) rarely exceeds three basic tenets:1) capitalism and wealth accumulation is evil 2) only an economy and society dominated by a powerful central government can guarantee fairness of outcome and 3) anyone who disagrees with 1 and 2 is dangerous, ignorant and not only greedy but tyrannical and thus must be relegated to the ash heap of society.

http://www.americanthinker.com/2013/12/the_decline_and_fall_of_political_discourse.html

JT: Methinks that this description with some changes is what leftists are: 1) The wealthy leftists and Obama money donators are evil 2) an economy and society dominated by a powerful central government will never guarantee fairness of outcome, only a free market economy and little government will guarantee fairness of outcome 3) leftists are dangerous, ignorant and not only greedy but tyrannical and thus must be relegated to the ash heap of society from whence they came.
