JT: IOTWReport.com writes that the cartoon was scrubbed by the Indianapolis Star. Isn't it interesting that practically everything that has to do with Obama is scrubbed. Yet, no matter how much scrubbing is undertaken, Obama is still nothing but dirt!

President Barack Obama's plan to shield millions of illegal immigrants from deportation could land him in prison if it violates federal laws against encouraging foreigners to enter the United States illegally, Rep. Mo Brooks of Alabama tells Slate. JT: Yes, America has moved, particularly under the DemocRATS. America has moved downward into the dumps where everything is permitted except American exceptionalism.

JT: Here's one of those DemocRATS who has caused America to move into the dumps:

JT quotes the following:

10 Liberal Clichés and What They Really Mean

Cliché [klee-shey, kli-] n. – a trite, stereotyped expression; a sentence or phrase, usually expressing a popular or common thought or idea, that has lost originality, ingenuity, and impact by long overuse.

1. The Constitution is a Living Document

This is used to rationalize ignoring the Constitution and imposing whatever Liberals want to on people. The Founding Fathers knew that as times changed there might arise a need to alter the Constitution, so they provided for Amendments. Amendments, alone are what make the US Constitutions “elastic” or “a living document”, but Liberals have long lost sight of that, and have taken the term used to describe the “elasticity” provided by Amendments to also include judicial interpretation, or as we know it, Judicial activism.

2. Diversity is Strength

It’s very interesting that what Liberals today call “Diversity” bears a striking resemblance to what Democrats used to call “Segregation”. Liberals see “Diversity” as acknowledging difference to the point of creating walls, which isolate different groups. They rationalize it as good, by pretending that these walls allow the groups to better expose their strengths. Wow, that's exactly what the segregationists of the 40s and 50s said, too. Conservatives on the other hand, acknowledge varying strengths, but see them as more efficiently used by using commonality among all people to strengthen societal unity and cohesion, not division.

3. Equal Protection

This canard is being used a lot today to rationalize all kinds of outrageous abuse. It works like this: A Liberal wants a special right for himself or some other group, but that right directly infringes on the rights of a group or groups the Liberals don't like—then the “Constitution” demands the second group loses their rights in favor of the first group so that “equal protection” is achieved. Rights for the first groups are expanded to including pretty much anything and everything they want. Rights for the second groups are diminished to the point of non-existence. The result is what Liberals call “Equal Protection”. Your religious beliefs say that homosexuality is wrong? Doesn't matter because the rights of homosexuals to force you to participate in the celebration of their chosen sexual positions trump your “so-called” freedom of religion (as if that's even in the Constitution, anyway). See how that works?

4. The One Percent

Class warfare is one of the Liberal's greatest weapons. It doesn't matter that there are actually more 1%ers that are Democrats than are Republicans. It doesn't matter that Liberal 1%ers donate more heavily than Republican or Libertarian (The Koch brothers are Libertarians) do. It's about class envy. Hate those that have more than you do, so you will lend your societal proxy (the miniscule power the individual possesses that when combined with others become a powerful political force) to those 1%ers promising (but never delivering) punishment for the haves and bread and circuses for the have nots.

5. Trust Black Women

This shameless exploitation of minorities was invented when Liberals could no longer hide the ongoing genocide of Blacks via Planned Parenthood. It's supposed to mean that even if Black women are flocking to abortion clinics to murder their babies at a rate that actually surpasses live births, we should shut up about it, and trust that they know what they are doing. What it really means is, “Hey, we've conned these people into thinking we are helping them by slowly eradicating them from the planet. So don't interfere.”

6. Violence Never Solved Anything

Cute, pithy, feel-good but still utter nonsense. Interesting that the same Liberals that cry, “Violence never solved anything,” have no problem arming local police departments like soldiers going to war. Interesting that they also have no problem when their president sends troops with guns into another country to make it do what we say. Interesting that so many of the wealthier and more powerful ones have no problem hiring armed guards to keep them safe.

7. Social Darwinism

Actual Social Darwinism had its root in the rationalization for British colonization, but was opposed by Christians who rejected the idea that some ethnic groups were better than others.

Liberals like to use the term today to accuse Conservatives of practicing it when opposing welfare. Conservatives, however oppose most welfare programs because the philosophy behind them is the assumption that minorities are incapable of success without the help of white Liberals, which is the essence of Social Darwinism. Conservatives believe that minorities are just as capable as any other race or ethnicity to achieve success without help, and social programs actually cripple minority communities by removing the basic motivations for success, and that minorities are just as deserving of the success they are capable of as any other group.

8. No War for Oil

Chanted by Liberals to imply that the Iraq war was actually, only about oil. There no real shortage of oil, it's just expensive. Had we used the money we spent freeing Iraq, buying oil instead, we would have had ten times as much oil. Instead, we caused (temporarily, until Obama screwed it up) a stability in the world's oil production which in turn weakened those oil producing nations (Saudi Arabia, Venezuela) who were funding terrorism and Communism. The goal was international stability which would have resulted in the reduction of violence world wide. That is until some moron named Obama yanked our troops out of Iraq, and set everything back two decades.

9. Choice

Liberals are in love with that word, as long as they get to define it. After making the choice to have sex and making the choice to not use birth control you find yourself pregnant and don't want the inconvenience of having a baby, well, the Liberals demand that you have the additional choice of murdering that baby (thus removing any choice that baby would ever have for anything) and no one should deny you that. Want to drink a nice hefty, sugary drink in New York. Hold on there. Liberals say you shouldn't be allowed that choice. After all you getting a bit thick in the middle is far worse than ripping another person limb from limb, isn't it?

10. Democracy

No, America is not a Democracy. There has never existed a Democracy in the history of mankind. It's a pure myth. Now the democratic process is something a lot of nations utilize, but not as its sole method of determining laws. The reason Liberals like misusing the term "Democracy" is that it furthers the illusion that the individual has power over the state. It makes simpletons feel more comfortable when you can convince them that they alone can go "vote that idiot out of office" rather than the vote being just one of many tools the individual can use to influence government, and that the vote itself is meaningless unless the voter has taken the time to study the candidates and the issues. See, it's a lot like handing a toy steering wheel to a three year-old as you drive them somewhere, so they can pretend that they are also controlling the car. If you haven't studied the candidates and the issues (studying does not mean watching their commercials) then your vote is as effective as that plastic steering wheel. The Democrats don't want you to understand that, so they keep telling you America is a Democracy, and hand you a little plastic steering wheel to play with.

JT: See! Read! Understand! Unity, Hope, and Change don't lie!! Barack Hussein Obama doesn't lie either!!! Here's proof:

JT: Mefeels this way under Obama for the past six years and for the next two years. The light has to be the symbol of reversing everything Obama has done.

JT: Spontaneous thought:

The work and responsibility of journalists is to be precise in reporting the truth and nothing but the truth. The reporting which American journalists in the lamestream television and print media have done during the last seven years regarding Barack Hussein Obama and the reporting which they are still doing is nothing more than lying to the American citizen and the world. Such journalists are complicit in the Obama-instigated demise of the United States of America. If the role of the lamestream television and print media during the past seven years is considered to be journalism, then good-bye America and welcome to Obama's cloaca.

People cope with the death of a loved one in different ways.

And one US cremation service thinks an urn that is the spitting image of a loved one's head might help mourners with their loss by commemorating a friend or family member.

The company in Arlington, Vermont, writes on its website: 'With personal urns, you can have a lifelike bust of your loved one that doubles as an urn for the ashes.'

JT: Methinks the progressives earned him and Americans should definitely urn him!

At <http://www.jammiewf.com/2014/granny-clintons-special-university-rate-for-incoherent-speeches-a-mere-300000/> we learn that Granny Clinton's "Special University Rate" for Incoherent Speeches (is) a Mere $300,000.

JT: You can engage me folks. I'll speak at your university pro bono ... and I won't lie to you!

JT: President George W. Bush defined Barack Hussein Obama as an Unlawful Enemy Combatant. Now Barack Hussein Obama has been cleared of such fame.

He is now an "Unprivileged Enemy Belligerent."

JT: Pay attention to this! Two progs were on a safari in Africa. The female prog asked her male prog companion, "Does that saying go for animals, too?"

Male Prog: "What saying?"

Female Prog: You know! The saying you are what you eat.

At that a lion who had overheard the conversation roared: "I'm a tourist!"

IOTWreport.com informs us that

"The Egyptian Family Court heard a case where a wife wanted to divorce her husband on account of his foul smelling mouth. The wife confirmed in her lawsuit that her 28-year-old husband consumes a lot of onion and garlic and despite the foul smell coming out of his mouth, he refused to give up his eating habit or following good hygiene habits. She added that she was married 8 months ago and she wanted to live with him but it was difficult to continue living with him because of his unpleasant odour, which prevented her from even sleeping next to him. The wife explained further that she tried to adjust to the situation but he refused to even maintain basic oral hygiene habits. In such a scenario, she was finding it tough to live with him under the same roof." <http://dailycaller.com/2014/11/25/new-york-times-reporters-publish-darren-wilsons-street/> reports: "Twitter users are calling for retribution after New York Times reporters Julie Bosman and Campbell Robertson published the name of police officer Darren Wilson's residential street. The reporters even helpfully noted that the suburb lies 'about a half-hour drive from Ferguson' where protests are currently taking place surrounding Wilson's exoneration in the Michael Brown case."

<http://gotnews.com/breaking-cops-nyt-reporter-published-darrenwilson-address-calling-cops-nonstop/> later publishes Bosman's address and reports that she "keeps calling the 20th District [police] station complaining about people harassing and threatening her,' our source told us. She's also 'complaining about numerous food deliveries being sent to her residence.'")
