JT: Spontaneous thought concerning the Killings in France on 13 November by ISIS:

Barack Hussein Obama is a true Muslim leader. In speaking about how terrible the deaths were in France, Obama did not use the words, Islam, terrorists, terrorism, jihadists, Muslims, or any word that referred to ISIS or Islam. He used the word criminals. Criminals is too soft a word to describe jihadists.

Now that's leadership in identifying the enemy!!!

JT: Emma Lazarus (1849-1887) penned the following lines that are part of her poem The New Colossus in 1883. It appears on a bronze plaque that was placed in the pedestal of the Statue of Liberty in 1903.

“Give me your tired, your poor,
Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free,
The wretched refuse of your teeming shore.
Send these, the homeless, tempest-tossed, to me:
I lift my lamp beside the golden door.”

Obama has re-written the poem.

It now reads:

Give me your jihadists, your fighters in the way of Allah,
Who slaughter huddled masses who want to be free.
Killing non-believers throughout the world.
Allah send your jihadists, the core of peaceful and tolerant Islam, to me
The moon god lifts his lamp in front of Shaitan’s underworld.

JT. Obama says "how we", meaning "how we Muslims." "We Muslims" spoken by Obama. I'm not surprised.

Don Fredrick of The Complete Obama Timeline reports in his November Issue that "At Dartmouth College, dozens of "black lives matter" protesters storm the Baker-Berry Library, shouting, "Fuck you, you filthy white fuckers!" "Fuck you and your comfort!" and "Fuck you, you racist shits!" According to CampusReform.org, "The sign-wielding, obscenity-shouting protesters proceeded through the usually quiet backwaters of the library. ...Thronges of protesters converged around fellow students who had not joined in their long march. They confronted students who bore 'symbols of oppression' such as 'gangster hats' and Beats-brand headphones. The flood of demonstrators opened the doors of study spaces with students reviewing for exams. Those who tried to close their doors were harassed further. One student abandoned the study room and ran out of the library. The protesters followed her out of the library, shouting obscenities the whole way. Students who refused to listen to or join their outbursts were shouted down: 'Stand the f*** up!' 'You filthy racist white piece of s***!' Men and women alike were pushed and shoved by the group. 'If we can't have it, shut it down!' they cried. Another woman was pinned to a wall by protesters who unleashed their insults, shouting 'filthy white b****!' in her face." (Don Fredrick notes: "Obama has no comment".)

Black Lives Matter activists take over the president's office at Princeton University and demand that Woodrow Wilson's name be removed from campus buildings because they consider him to have been a racist.

JT: The actions of the Black Lives Matter groups is typical progard behavior: Accuse others of what you are and what you do. All of them should all be removed from their respective campuses because they are the true racists. They should also be prosecuted in courts of law according to The Civil Rights Act of 1968, 18 U.S.C. § 245(b)(2) which says any person who: “willingly injures, intimidates or interferes with another person, or attempts to do so, by force because of the other person's race, color, religion or national origin” [1] because of the victim's attempt to engage in one of six types of federally protected activities, such as attending school, patronizing a public place/facility, applying for employment, acting as a juror in a state court or voting. Persons violating this law face a fine or imprisonment of up to one year, or both.” For this and hate crime law see “willingly injures, intimidates or interferes with another person, or attempts to do so, by force because of the other person's race, color, religion or national origin” [1] because of the victim's attempt to engage in one of six types of federally protected activities, such as attending school, patronizing a public place/facility, applying for employment, acting as a juror in a state court or voting. JT: It's, Obama in disguise! (Yes, I mean It's.)

Also in the November 2015 Issue of The Complete Obama Timeline Don Fredrick makes the following documented report that during the November 13 Paris massacre, "ISIS gunmen used knives to torture their mortally wounded victims by slitting their stomachs as they lay on the floor, it has been claimed. An eyewitness who hid in a cellar for three hours as the armed murderers rampaged through the packed Bataclan Theatre in Paris said she knew people were being tortured because she could hear their screams. Mariessa Payne, from Perthshire, told the Daily Mail: 'We knew people were being tortured in the theatre because we heard people screaming, but they were not being shot and these were singular screams. When we escaped a man trapped on the level where it happened said to us the terrorists were stabbing people in the stomach. We were told they were throwing explosives at people. It was a horrendous ordeal.' ...Another survivor, Pierre Marie Bertin, saw men pleading for the lives of their wives and girlfriends as the killers with their assault rifles told them to shut up."

JT: It had nothing to do with Islam because Islam and Islamists are peaceful and tolerant!

***

Again from Don Fredrick in the November 2015 Issue of The Complete Obama Timeline: "It is later reported that the Paris attack mastermind, 28-year-old Belgian Abdelhamid Abaaoud, was killed in the seven-hour siege in Saint-Denis. The bomb detonating woman, Hasna Ait Boulahcen, is a cousin of Abaaoud. The explosion severs her head and expels it through the apartment window."

JT: A friend of mine made the following remark: "Hasna Ait Boulahcen was on her way to Jannah, or at least her head was on its way. I didn't know that Allah accepted heads!"

"My thoughts on yesterday's attack (The Muslim/Islamic terrorist attack in Paris on 13 November 2015.):

If anything, last night's attacks confirm how correct George W. Bush was in taking the fight to Al Qaeda and winning. He assembled the largest contingent of nations in world history—over 40 (significantly, France didn't join)—23 Democrats, including Hillary Clinton and future Democrat presidential nominee, John Kerry, voted for it. There were 17 UN resolutions supporting it. 8 of the largest intelligence services in the world said there were WMD in Iraq. In short, we were taking the fight to those trying to do us harm, after 9/11. and, we were trying to instill democracy as an alternative to radical Islam. Remember those Iraqis holding up their purple fingers after voting? It was working.

We've been here. All the things France's Hollande is saying now — 'it's an act of war' / 'we'll fight them', etc. —been there, done that. If we had stayed the course in Iraq, under John McCain, we'd be safer.

But when the going got tough in 2006, the left got going. feeling physically safer in 2006, than in 2003, and with the Iraqi war not going well (the civil war, WW2...none of them went well for many years), the left went to their old tried and true, "no war at no time" bromide and elected a man who promised to get us out of all entanglements even though we needed to be in them -- as Hollande just last night committed to. A man, obama, who did not have the resume to be appointed head of a company with 5 employees, no less a country at war with over 325 million people.

Not ten hours before ISIS pulled off yet another stunning attack the president declared that the terror group was "contained". We deserve the leadership we vote for.

The left's fecklessness goes beyond obama. Hillary Clinton, John Kerry, Al Gore, they all think the same — ISIS and terror is a police problem. We'll do the best we can domestically, and bomb them here and there to give the appearance of engagement. But, Hillary et al--these aren't serious people and they cannot be trusted to take the fight to the enemy and do something the left doesn't like to do: WIN. Why? Because, If someone "wins", then someone "loses" and that would be "hurtful". That's how these people think. It's why Obama and co. paved the way for the "death-to-america-chanting" Iranians to get a nuclear weapon: he wanted them to be in the 'family of nations'. How good do democrat congressman feel today about handing nukes to Iran after what happened last night?

The attack on France is what Israel goes through daily for close to 70 years. When Arafat turned down the Bill Clinton-brokered peace treaty (June, 2000) in which the Palestinians got 98% of what they demanded (still, without recognizing Israel!), Arafat started the second intifada, in which 1000 israelis were blown up – on a daily basis, in pizzeria's, on buses, etc. Considering the population differences (Israel has 7 million people, America, 325 million), that would be the equivalent of an uprising in this country where 50,000 people were killed. Did you read that? every time 5 israelis are stabbed or murdered — which is an everyday occurrence — that's the equivalent of it happening to 50 people in France. Daily. And all Obama and Hillary and Kerry and the EU and Ban at the UN can do is blame Israel for building apartments in its own territory as the main cause for the worldwide terror. Sure!

Did you read the accounts from the survivors last night? In the concert hall a man described how 2 terrorists started firing their automatic weapons onto the crowd. People got down on the floor. Then, as described by a survivor, the shooters CALMLY reloaded their weapons with new clips and continued to fire. And again and again. The same thing happened in the Cambmiduan restaurant. France prides itself on having "strict" gun laws. If 2 people had guns, we wouldn't be looking at 128 dead. But, France is basically a "gun free zone". And those innocent on the floor of the concert hall last night waited to be executed. Enough said on the effectiveness of liberal gun laws! Those who kill love them most.

Finally, last night, I read a post from a very liberal friend of mine on Facebook. She said, referring to the French terror episode, "This is real. It's not going to just take love". How revealing. Yes, the era of "all you need is love" is now over, folks. It was a nice song to sing but for those on the left, it was THE foundational piece of how to be in the world. It explains why we have obnoxious, unappreciative 'students' making idiotic, vacuous demands on our campuses — it's clear they needed a lot less love and a lot more spankings. The same is true of medieval Islamists (props to Jonah Goldberg for correctly naming who we are actually fighting). They don't need "love and understanding" (as Iran got, along with nukes and a larger wallet to fund terror), but, instead, a complete ass-kicking.

The left has failed us. We tried it their way. For close to 8 years. 51 weeks and counting...

JT: This piece was posted on Seth Swirsky's Facebook page. It has been quoted herein full with personal permission. Thank you Seth!

From: Amil Imani via <http://beforeitsnews.com/opinion/2015/11/to-cut-to-the-chase-we-need-to-eliminate-some-disinformation-myths-about-the-war-on-terror-2455208.html> (Danke JO)

To cut to the chase, we need to eliminate some disinformation and myths about the “War on Terror”:

1. We are not fighting terrorism. We are engaging in an ideological battle between freedom, conservatism, democracy, individual rights, capitalism, Christian ethics, and Islamofascism, communism-socialism, theocracy, and tyranny. There are also internationalist, dictatorial, globalist forces that seek to use the conflict to create an international government and a unification of all religions by the destruction of nationalism, patriotism, individual rights and sectarianism.
2. It is not “fanatical”, “radical”, or “extreme” Islam that we are fighting, but normal, orthodox, canonical, typical, accepted, traditional Islam, straight from the mouth of the prophet Muhammad. Islam is violent in direct proportion to its mission and scripture. The so-called fanatics are only upholding the truth of their principles. There are those who do not openly engage in terrorism or warfare, but are in support of it, or are working in other ways to spread Islam by force and fraud.
3. Islam is evil, by any accepted definition of that word, and must be seen as such by all rational non-Islamists. There is no such thing as “peace” in Islam except a temporary peace that comes after a successful war against infidels.
4. Islam can work by brute force and by the lengths to which the believers will go to perpetuate it. Its theology and practices make it inherently evil and dangerous to all of mankind. It has already spread and infected the world like a cancer. How do you eradicate it out of existence? You can't...in fact, they will do their best to eradicate us first, by “creating terror into the hearts of unbelievers.”
5. We must begin to declare Islam evil, not from a sectarian perspective, but from a universal, humanist one. Every encroachment of Islam as a religion must be rejected, harassed and discouraged by all people everywhere. Any leftist attempts to give aid and comfort to this religion of hate must be denounced and frustrated at every turn. Otherwise, get used to your radioactive suit and your fallout shelter, a standard of living—and a level of freedom of 1/10th of what you have today.

Warning to free men and women: Remain a spectator at your own peril. It is imperative that you take a stand and do your part at denouncing the fraud of Islam and do all you can to prevent the Islamic fire from devouring our civilized democratic system. Thanks to the reader who identified the IP address (82.45.236.70) as belonging to a block of addresses assigned to VirginMedia Consumer Broadband UK.

The massacre in Paris is reported to have occurred at 21:16 CET.

By 23:06 Wikipedia had an article up that is extremely detailed, containing statements from a former French President and a complete outline of events at several locations, matters that the press I read had not by then reported.

It piqued my interest that an article would be up on Wikipedia within two hours of the event happening. So I went there.

I began reading the current version of the article and then decided to read a much earlier version. I chose the 23:18 version for this article, not overly consciously. At that point I did not understand very much.

By the time I got myself organized here, I saw that the earliest versions of the article had just been erased from Wikipedia's change record. Everything before 00:00 was erased from the record, preventing access to the originals of the story. That aroused my suspicions immediately.

(That list of deleted versions was gotten again by going to the user page of the person who wrote the article, known only by his number 82.45.236.70. The list appeared there and the articles proved linkable and recoverable. You can reach them, until they're taken down, by clicking on the list given in Footnote 1.)

The 23:18 version includes discussions of the hostage-taking, complete with an approximate number of hostages involved (60), as well as detailed accounts of events at several locations. It even has a detailed bibliography. How could your average Wikipedia author have done this incredible piece of work and in less than two hours? Obviously this was not your average Wikipedia author.

Many think the massacre in Paris is a false flag and this is part of it! The world is crazy! How can the massacre in Paris on 13 November be a false flag? That would mean the eight jihadists in Paris who killed 130 and wounded 350 weren't really present and there were no killed and wounded people.

I sometimes think if the Internet had been available at the massacre of the Israeli sport participants at the Munich Olympic Summer Games in 1972, there would have been reports that the Israelis had massacred themselves!

Nevertheless, here are some false flags claims.

"[T]here is always... the threat of some [terrorist] actor, some lone wolf person, someone who slipped through. That's the world we're living in today and we understand that. Ever since 9/11, many experts across the United States, without regard to political party or to elections, have consistently said to us it's probably not a question of if; it's a question of when." – John Kerry at <http://www.state.gov/secretary/remarks/2015/11/249892.htm>.

JT: Dolt Kerry! The West has millions of watches and clocks, even atomic clocks. Islam has time!

<http://dcwhispers.com/report-the-real-reason-turkey-shot-down-russian-fighter/>

JT: Why did Turkey shoot down a Russian SU-25 Bomber over Syrian air space? The Russians have been bombarding ISIS oil routes into Turkey from whence the oil is sent to purchasing countries. The Turkish leader Erdogan is making millions on the side by allowing ISIS to do this. Destroying the oil routes into Turkey would be tantamount to cutting off Erdogan's source of dirty money. Therefore, Russia had to be taught a lesson not to interfere with Erdogan receiving millions from the sale of ISIS oil. Don't rule out the possibility that Obama is also receiving more than just some of this oil money.

A brutal honor killing depicting a woman who was stoned to death in a hole by Afghan men was caught on tape and posted to social media on Friday. Stoning, or Rajm (Arabic: رجم) in Islamic literature, is a form of capital punishment practiced in United Arab Emirates, Iran, Iraq, Qatar, Mauritania, Saudi Arabia, Somalia, Sudan, Yemen, Northern Nigeria, Aceh in Indonesia, Brunei, and parts of Pakistan. Islam is so peaceful and tolerant. In Afghanistan and Iraq, both of which have been central fronts for the U.S. in the War on Terror, stoning has been declared illegal. However, it is practiced extrajudicially and according to Sharia, or Islamic law. Rajm is described as punishment in multiple hadiths—Shi’a sayings can be found in Kitab al-Kafi, while Sunni sayings can be found in the Sahih Bukhari and Sahih Muslim—but the method in the video is telling.

In the Sunnah of Muhammad, the method of stoning by digging a pit and burying the person’s lower half in it before stoning takes place, is described. The Quran and the Sunna make up the two primary sources of Islamic theology and law, with the latter Sunna being defined as “a path, a way, a manner of life”; “all the traditions and practices” of the Islamic prophet that “have become models to be followed” by Muslims.

Judging by the manner by which the stoning was carried out, it is likely that the woman was charged with some act that constitutes Zina, which is considered a Hudud, or a religious crime against God. Zina includes extramarital sex, premarital sex, illegal sex by a slave girl and homosexuality.

The punishment is execution.

Over one-third (35.1%, or 24,579) of all refugees that came to the U.S. in FY 2015 came from the Near East and South Asia. That region that includes Iraq, Iran, Bhutan and, of course, Afghanistan, the latter of which has been the theater of the longest U.S. war."
